Free Consultancy Service Directors' Hotline

We are conscious of the concerns that independent directors of investment structures often have about the circumstances in which they can take legal advice, independent of a Fund or Manager's counsel. Concerns may include the difficulties that can arise in seeking approval for the expenditure associated with obtaining independent legal advice and the potential complications in enforcing indemnities to reimburse the director for legal costs that they may incur.

Our experience shows us that these difficulties often result in directors waiting too long before seeking independent advice and potentially compromising their position as a result. Therefore we are pleased to confirm that we are offering independent directors two free hours of our time in order to discuss issues of concern to them ranging from corporate governance, fund solvency, regulation and compliance to relationships with investment managers and shareholders.

The time will be offered on the following terms:

1. It is limited to two hours per fund.
2. If the issues become sufficiently complex or significant that the two hours is expended then we will advise you of that fact and, subject to your agreement, will provide additional time at our regular hourly rates.
3. In the event that you consult us in connection with a particular fund and you or the board on which you sit subsequently retains alternative counsel then you waive any potential conflict that we might otherwise have in acting for another party in connection with the fund and its affairs.
4. Save as set out above, the service will be provided subject to our standard terms and conditions of business, details of which can be found at <https://www.campbellslegal.com/terms-and-conditions/>.
